

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

For More Information:

Caitlin Bubela, 713.970.2100, caitlin@vollmerpr.com

Melissa Dugan, 713-524-0250, mdugan@legacyenergysolutions.com

LEGACY Energy Management Solutions
Expands Leadership Team

HOUSTON (Jan. 18, 2007) – LEGACY Energy Management Solutions (LEGACY), a leading Houston-based provider of energy management solutions to commercial, industrial and governmental consumers, today announced two new additions to its management team. “We pride ourselves on finding the right candidate for each position; one that not only understands the complex and ever-changing energy industry environment, but also the importance of strong customer service,” said John Elder, president and chief executive officer of LEGACY. “Finding the right person that can meld these two important attributes together is crucial to our company’s continued growth and to maintaining our exceptional 98 percent customer retention rate.”

Richard Zdunkewicz joins LEGACY as director of sales and brings with him 17 years of energy experience. Most recently, Zdunkewicz served as a solutions sales executive for Direct Energy, L.P., where he led the solutions sales efforts in the commercial and industrial segments throughout the United States. In his previous experience, Zdunkewicz structured and consummated transaction offerings that included energy management outsource solutions, energy commodities, cogeneration, facilities management and related financing. Zdunkewicz also has seven years of commercial banking experience and has worked abroad in Europe. Zdunkewicz received his bachelor’s degree in economics from Texas A&M University.

- more -

LEGACY EXPANDS LEADERSHIP TEAM/add one

Rebecca Marcucci joins LEGACY as a consultant, specializing in government and quasi-government agencies. She is an experienced client relations manager and business development professional with sales, management and marketing experience. Marcucci's technical expertise varies from water and wastewater operations to healthcare provision. Most recently, Marcucci served as the Houston regional manager of client services for ECO Resources Inc., a Houston-based company that maintains and operates utility systems in the southern and western part of the United States. At ECO Resources, Marcucci was responsible for managing a sales team of 10 and a portfolio of clients which represented approximately $23 million in annual sales. Marcucci received her bachelor's degree in marketing from Texas A&M University.

“With more than 30 years combined first-hand knowledge and experience dealing with risk management in the energy and financing sectors, these two talented individuals will be a tremendous asset to our current and future clients,” Elder added.

About LEGACY Energy Management Services

LEGACY is a leading provider of long-term energy management solutions to commercial customers helping them to more effectively manage and control their energy expenses. Combining the expertise of highly skilled energy management and business consulting professionals with best-in-class technology, the company is widely recognized for their expertise in energy analysis, energy software design and application, contract negotiation, energy trading and risk management.

For more information, please visit www.legacyenergysolutions.com or call 713-524-0250.